

altumAI and Tangram Insurance Services launch new tech-enabled MGA with smarter risk prevention and better loss control.

Chicago – September 28, 2021– altumAI, a leading worker health and safety software and analytics firm and Tangram Insurance Services (Tangram), Managing General Underwriter and Program Manager announced today that they are establishing a premier Program Manager (MGA): “futureWork Insurance Solutions” (futureWork). Integrating the altumAI technology with Tangram’s insurance program expertise to create an insurance outcome that improves the insured’s experience, enhances safety culture, and reduces losses and the associated costs.

Launching in October 2021, the futureWork joint venture powered by Tangram with an initial focus on Workers’ Compensation will over time expand into additional lines of insurance.

altumAI’s software improves worker health and safety based on worker specific data and insight that drives smarter risk prevention for better loss control and reduced losses.

“We are thrilled to partner with the Tangram team on this new tech-enabled program” said Douglas Turk, Co-Founder of altumAI. “Together we offer clients and partners an innovative technology and insurance program that predicts and avoids risk and provides a competitive insurance outcome utilizing our insight and data for reduced losses and expense. This is a game changer in Workers Comp and how we are able to underwrite other lines in the future.”

The Tangram team of underwriting experts and specialists have the capabilities to reduce client’s workers’ compensation costs with the insights and data captured through altumAI’s health and safety technology platform.

“We are constantly seeking opportunities to invest in the future of insurance and a big part of that opportunity is understanding, analyzing and underwriting human behavior” noted Rekha Skantharaja, CEO of Tangram Insurance. With altumAI’s leading edge technology around human telematics and Tangram’s dynamic underwriting and distribution infrastructure, futureWork is a powerful vehicle to build safer work environments and more profitable insurance programs.”

The MGA will deploy futureWork to forward-thinking Program clients to improve their overall workers’ compensation costs and enhance their safety culture.
